Mail Box Beautification, Appearance, and Repair

Thank you for visiting this site. The WingHaven Residential Owners' Association (WROA) Board of Directors is always concerned with the state of community appearance and maintenance. WingHaven is not as young as it used to be.

The developers of WingHaven had a vision that our homes would stand out above surrounding subdivisions by having high standards.

One of those differences is that the developer wanted all of our mailboxes in our individual areas to look exactly the same and to always remain consistent.

The only difference that you will notice traveling through WingHaven is that some mailboxes in the Boardwalk area are white and all others are black. It is against the rules to change your mailbox from this original design.

With that said, it is also the responsibility of every homeowner to maintain their mailbox and to replace all broken parts.

The condition and appearance of the Mail Box is an initiative for 2017, and we solicit your support. A well-maintained Mail Box makes the street view and home frontage more attractive.

Below, you will find available vendors that are knowledgeable of the community standards and are available. If you use one of these vendors, please post your experience on NextDoor.

Homeowners are responsible for the maintenance costs and appearance of their mailbox.

The WingHaven Board of Directors thank you for your support of this 2017 initiative.
